City officially looks at stand-by tow trucks

CHQR Newsroom
 1/18/2010

A City committee will be looking at the idea of standby towtrucks at its meeting this week. The one-year pilot project, to examine effectiveness at trouble spots, would cost about $700 Thousand. But Alderman Diane Colley-Urquhart believes anything that can help congested roadways to move more smoothly would be welcomed by taxpayers. The City is looking at setting up five areas for stand by tow trucks, like Crowchild Trail over the Bow River, and Glenmore Trail between Crowchild and 14th Street SW.
